CONFUSION

Results From Renaming of Massillon Streets
That is Worse
Than Ever

TO AMEND ORDINANCE

Special to Morning News.

Massillon, O., March 30.—An increase rather than a decrease in the confusion caused by the similarity of street names in Massillon is resulting from the renaming ordinance passed by the city council last Tuesday night. At least two of the changed names of streets conflict with names of other streets and it is mainly on this account that the confusion has been increased. By the changing of East street to Lincoln street the number of Lincoln streets has been increased to two. Such a condition is beginning to cause great difficulty at the postoffice. "No. 34 Lincoln street," is greeted with "which Lincoln street do you mean?" One of the streets intersects the eastern portion of the city and the other runs for a short distance in the extreme southwestern part of Massillon, in that district called Columbia Heights. Unless the name of the person to whom the mail is addressed is known to the post-office employees serious difficulty is encountered in properly delivering the mail. Another conflict caused by the changing of the street names lies in the fact that there are now two Wall streets. The original Wall street lies in the northeastern corner of the city and the other which was formerly Guide street, is located in the southeast. Both of these streets are small side streets and the confusion resulting on their account is slight.

Some of the new names are almost entirely unknown to most of the Massillon citizens who have not yet grown accustomed to the use of the change. Trouble is experienced by even the wise policemen in directing strangers to the newly named streets.

At the next meeting of the city council it is probable that an amendment will be made to the street renaming ordinance to provide against the conflicts which are occurring. A meeting of the street and alley committee of the council was held this evening to decide upon new names for the streets whose present names conflict. Lincoln and Wall streets will probably be the only ones affected by the change.

Benjamin Ramie, aged 53 years, died this morning at 9 o'clock at his home on Paul street, after being ill for a short time with pneumonia. The announcement for the funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Benjamin Ripley, an inmate of the Massillon State hospital, died today. Ripley had been a patient at the institution for seven years and was 49 years old. The body will be taken to Freepport, Ohio, tomorrow morning for burial.

THE FAIR SEX

Charmingly Portrayed in the Drawings of Harrison Fisher, Published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

Charles Scribner's Sons of New York, are deserving of a great deal of praise for their picture publications, among the most popular and praiseworthy of these are the Harrison Fisher drawings, now before the American public. His conception of feminine loveliness as shown in his many drawings, has won for him great popularity. Among his most popular pictures are "At the Country Club," "Calendar for 1908," "Those Bewitching Eyes," and "A Thoroughbred." All of his pictures are exceptionally true to life, and many think his portrayal of the American girl can't be surpassed. Charles Scribner's Sons, 153-157 Fifth avenue, New York, publish a book which gives a complete list of their many picture publications. One will be mailed free if you desire it.

CHURCHMEN

From Different Denominations of City Form
Men's Organization

MEET AT Y. M. C. A.

Representatives from the Men's Bible classes and men's clubs of the United Evangelical church, the First M. E. church, the Christian church, the United Brethren church, the Trinity Reformed church, the United Presbyterian church, the Trinity Lutheran church, the Baptist church and the Y. M. C. A., to the number of 50, met in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. building last night for the purpose of affiliating all of the men's clubs and Bible classes of all of the churches in the city. This affiliation is for the purpose of starting aggressive movements in the city, such as men's meetings during next winter, social movements among the various churches, the planning of a better way in which to study the Bible, etc.

The men sat at an elaborate four-course banquet during the forepart of the evening after which the work of organization began. Secretary Williams, of the Y. M. C. A., set forth a temporary constitution which was adopted by the men present. F. T. Rench was elected temporary chairman for the evening and the subject of electing an executive committee was taken up, the name of the organization being known as the Men's Brotherhood.

The following men were elected to represent their church on the committee and will meet in the near future for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year: United Brethren, W. A. Lytle; First Baptist, H. W. Alden; Y. M. C. A., F. T. Rench; First M. E., E. E. McKenzie; Trinity Reformed, Ed. L. Smith; First Christian, Charles Morrow; United Evangelical, L. O. Brechbrill; Trinity Lutheran, E. N. Shreiner; United Presbyterian, Ralph Nohl.

Preceding the election of the executive committee, several addresses were made by men prominent in Y. M. C. A. work in the state. F. W. Ramsey spoke on "What to Do," in which he talked of service, and the privilege of service; E. J. Hart talked on "How to Do It," in which he told of the work of the Bible classes in Cleveland, and the proper way in which

AT THE ORPHEUM

The bill at the Orpheum this week is an exceptionally well balanced one and furnishes entertainment during every minute of the performance. There is music and comedy of a high class in plenty and one turn, that of a troupe of cyclists, that is an exhibition of skill that one does not often see.

The headliner this week is the Varo-Valdare troupe of cyclists. Two men, two women and a youngster of tender years make up the team and their work is glibly edged. One of the team is something of a comedian but doesn't let that interfere with his riding.

Mortimer Bassett made a hit with his imitations. Judging from the noises he makes one would believe that he had spent some time in the rural districts for his imitations of animals and birds are excellent.

Black and Leslie, a team of novelty sketch artists, make good from the start and are fun makers of the first water.

Cliff Blanchard, an eccentric comedian is that not only in his comedy work but in look and make-up. He won a laugh before he spoke a line and after he got well started was a scream.

Ivy and Ivy, a team which seems at home on any of a dozen musical instruments, made good. One of the team is considerable of a comedian and his work helped.

The pictures and songs were good.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT

Well Received at His Initial Appearance at the Grand Last Night.

There wasn't a person at the Grand last evening who had a bit of Irish blood coursing through his veins, but was proud of it, and you didn't have to ask them more than once to hear them to exclaim, "Faith, and the Irish are the brains of the country."

Chauncey Olcott gave his initial performance at the Grand last evening before a representative audience and to say that he pleased is putting it mildly. His songs stimulated the audience with good cheer and in all of them he was encored several times. He certainly made good, and if he ever returns to Canton, which we sincerely hope will happen, he will play to all who saw his performance this time, and no doubt to a great many more, for it is the kind of a play one would enjoy seeing not only once but several times.

The story of the play is an interesting one and holds the undivided attention of the audience at all times. It is interspersed with just enough comedy to keep the audience in a continuous state of good humor.

The stage settings and scenery are beautiful, and at the opening of the fourth act when Chauncey is standing on the ramparts of a ruined castle just at the dawn the scenery is exceptionally realistic and the audience showed their appreciation by giving it hearty applause. The cast was an exceptionally strong and well balanced one.

Taken all in all the play made a decided hit and proved an excellent evening's entertainment.

Will Recommend Parole of Horner.

A recommendation for the parole of Robert Horner, a Canton resident, who is serving a sentence at the Mansfield reformatory for criminal assault, will be made today by Prosecutor Upham. The charge was preferred by members of Horner's family. It is said he has been a model prisoner since arriving at the state institution.

The prosecutor refused to recommend the parole of Joseph Stoecken, sent to Mansfield for burglarizing the Lehman cigar store on East Tuscarawas street.

CANTON BOY

Leaves for Dayton to Try Out With the Central League Team of That City.

Harry Haylor leaves this morning for Dayton where he will report for the spring practice with the Dayton Central league team. He is in great form and is ready to begin heaving the horseshoe sphere in earnest. He has been limbering up in practice daily for a number of weeks and says that he feels fine and ready to go into the box any minute. He cannot be called a raw recruit for he worked in several games last season for Dayton and made a splendid showing. In the last game between Dayton and Canton he was pitted against "Rube" Marquard, one of the best in the Central and he allowed only three hits and the game was a 0 to 0 score.

Manager Kittredge signed him early in the season and when Bade Myers was made manager of the Vets he retained Harry and wrote him several letters very encouraging in nature.

Haylor will have a chance to work against the White Sox this week it is thought as he is one of the two left handed hitters on Bade's pitching staff. Dayton will play several exhibition games in the next few weeks. Harry goes to Dayton with the well wishes of a host of friends. He is a pitcher of much promise and is a steady, systematic, conscientious player, who uses his judgment as well as his shoots and slants which is just as essential for a successful box artist.

Many New Faces at East Liverpool. There will be many faces on the East Liverpool team that were not there last year. In fact almost an entire new aggregation will don the uniform of the pottery city. Half of last year's team, has signed in the New England league. Partee is with a team in the New York league and Fleming will not be back with the team this year. Farnbaugh, Price and Ravey are the property of the East Liverpool team, but it is said that at least two of them will not play there. Wetzel is being tried out by Pittsburg. Conroy is open to an engagement but has not signed and Boyle is to play with Richmond in the Virginia league. Sweeney has been allowed to go adrift and Friel and Wilhelm are with Newcast. Evidently East Liverpool will see few, if any of last season's players in action. Manager Phillips will have new timber, if nothing else.
